Valse Grise, pour piano, par Jean Mar-torell. Enoch and Sons. Also arranged for Orchestra and Septott. This is a ploising and cloverly written waltz, suitable alike for the ball room or plane solo. All the thomes are melodiousand bright and the accompaninients well nustain the melodies with appropriate and clever harmonies. There is a great variety of treatment in each of the movements and taken as a whole this waltz should become a great favourite.

BARCAROLLE (from Desux Morcesux pour pieno) par E. Silas, Op 132. Enoch and Sons.

This solo for the piano published by Mesers Enoch and Sons is not only the most extended of this list, but shows a master hand. The middle movement is difficult to play (particularly for the left hand) but nowadays that may be in its favour. This composition well merits the attention of pianists and students. In it Mr Silas shows considerable versatility and originality. His master hand is shown in his harmonic schemes, which are bold. though never at any time can one lose sight of the fact that they are manifestedly dictated by a desire to suggest the spirit

(From our Correspondent).

AMOY, January 21.

AMOY TRADE. The trade of Amoy is very stagnant just now, and it is said that many Chinese firms and business houses as well as shopshaving failed altogether. Confidence in Native Banks is weak, and there is considerable trepidation as the end of the Chinose Year draws near as to the capability of many firms to weather the storm,

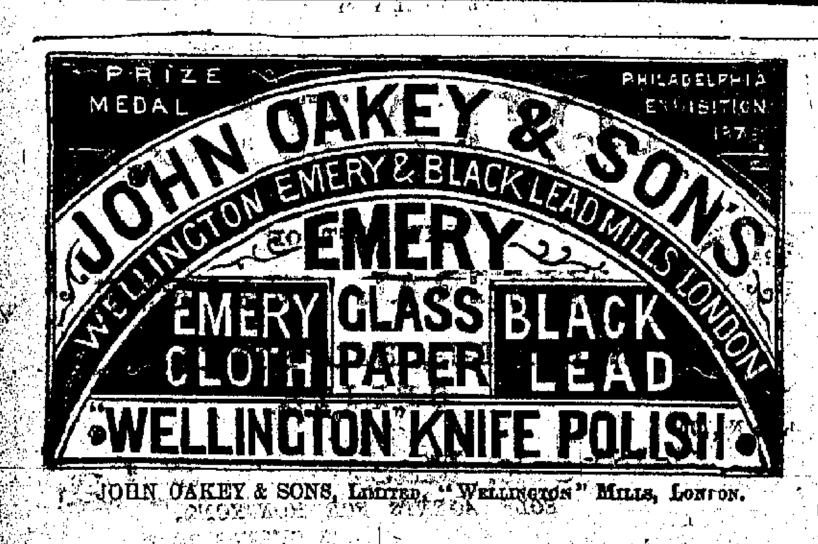

BOCIAL CHANGES. It is simply astonishing the many and rapid changes that go on continually in a small port like this. Among recent arrivals . are Dr Filvers, who has come to help Dr Morehouse, while Dr MacDougall goes home to England; Dr Montgomery, who joins the English Presbyterian Mission at Chang Poo, taking the place of Dr.J. Howie, who died last spring; the Rev. W. Oldham, who also goes to Chang Poo; Mr H. F. Rankin, the Principal of the Angle-Chinese College at Kulangsu, who returns after a well-carned furlough, and who received a Splendid House, with every convenience. | hearty welcome from his hoys; Miss M. furlough. While as to those contemplating visits home, their name is legion. Among those who are likely to leave in the next month or two are the British Consul, Mr P. F. Hausser, with his wife and children; the American Consul, 13 Mr John H. Fosler, and his wife; Mr B. Hampel: Mr T. Wright, of the Hongkong & Shanghai Bank ; Mr H. E. Wadman, of the I. M. Customs and his wife. of the L. M. S. are both expected back in

THE MUNICIPAL COUNCIL

Monday, Jan. 30, has been chosen for the Annual Meeting of the ratepayers of Kulangsu to be held in the Board Room at 5 p.m., for the passing of accounts for 1904, the Election of a New Council for the provision of Municipal Expenses for the current year, and for such other necessary business as may be brought forward;

THE TUNG WEN INSTITUTE. The annual report and announcements of this popular school has just been issued to all interested in its continued progress. The teaching staff has been increased during the year by another teacher from America, so that there are now three foreign. teachers (all from the United States), and eight Chinese teachers, assisted by four pupil-teachers, all of whom know the English language. No less than 340 boys were on the roll in 1904, an increase of five on 1903, and they are divided into seven standards, each of which is sub-divided into two classes 'a and 'b From the report of an Inspection Committee, consisting of Messrs Hempel, Gowland, and Dr McDougail, who visited the school on October 7, it is evident that a good work is being done in the school, and that the hard work of the teachers is throughly appreciated by the boys, and that the school is filling a want, and turning out many These fine new Steamers have unex. who are learning English among the Chi. celled accommodation for First Class who are learning anymen among the Chi-Passengers and are lit throughout by uses youth is increasing every year, and it was interesting to have the unbiassed opinion of an educated Chinaman the other day in which he ventured the view that English might become the language of China sconer than Mandarin after all.

LONDON MUSEIONARY SOCIETY. The annual gathering of the Pastors and Presches of the L. M. S. in this district. called in the local dislect, the Ho Hoe, was held from January 6 to 10 with a full attendance. Progress is reported all slong the line, there being an increase in every NAVAL CONTRACTORS, direction. I append a list of statistics, and so need mit comment on it here. It is satisfactory to know that the work had gone on steadily all the year, without any serious bindrances or any unusual occurrences. Some districts have suffered from plague and floods, but it is noteworthy that the total amount of money collected is larger

DEPARTURES. MAIL STEAMER

The following table is a chronologically arranged list of mail steamer sailings to Europe, America, Canada, and Australia. Coast ports, Manila, and Japan are not given, for steamers are constantly sailing for those ports. All the American steamers call at Japan, and the majority of the Australian boats call at Manila, and, in addition to those vessels, special steamers run there. The departure of every steamer is subject to alteration. The P. & O. mails usually reach London in about 28 days, and the French and German in about 28-or-30-days.

THE EDUCATION OF WOMEN.

(To the Editor of the CHINA MAIL.)

Sin,-In reference to the very instructing discourse on woman's education de-A fatal accident occurred at Morrison livered by His Excellency the Governor at the Belilies Public Schools, and more especially the comment the CHINA MAIL subjected it to. I beg to be allowed at the others shifting furniture. It appears that very outset to deprecate the degrading conclusion drawn by you, viz., that women should be made physically fit to perform it necessary such work as that performed by rison Hill Road the rope broke and the Chinese women. The indirect suggestion wardrobe dropped on the unfortunate is that women should work. No, Sir, with due deference I am one of those amongst the great majority of mankind that would plead for the emancipation of women from all those things pertaining to business, commercial, organised, discipline. I would strenuously preclude them from entering the great competitive areas where the keen fight for commercial supremacy is already having a depressing effect on the general constitution. I say such places are not for women, neither would I give them We, who have had considerable experience in large cities where girls and women go to business in large, numbers, know, which he has occupied since the formation only too well, the percentage they have fallen in the estimation of men, hardly ever are they recipients of that courtesy which once was so pleasingly conspicuous, such as allowing a lady to enter the compartment of a railway carriage first, or, if crowded, stand and give your seat to her. Such little acts of graciousness are seldom witnessed to-day, why? Because women take their place with men in work and business, and men by instinct realize that according to the fundamental laws of nature it is not proper for them to do so, consequently they cease to hold them in the same high esteem. So I say, women should be educated to believe they are in existence to eventually administer sympaty, kindness, gentleness; to gradually inculcate us with acts of generosity and unselfishness, instead of performing duties that nature never intended them to per-requiem mass for the late Right Rev.

Bishop Piazzoli, was held at the R. C. Cathedral by the Bishop of Macao, assisted by the clergy. Father Spada preached un eloquent sermon, in which the following character sketch occurred :- 'Mon. Piszzoli, the youngest son of a large family, was born at Alzano, near Milan, of very virtuous parents. He received from them bis first education which gave to young Piazzoli a good and intrepid character, preparing him unconsciously for the most noble of ministries. He continued his education in Bergam College, going through a classical course, as, is generally done by those young men who are intended for the ecolosiastical profession. He then studied philosophy, theology, and other ciences, passing successfully his examina-tion in the Seminary at Milan, and in the year 1868 he was ordained priest. In the meanwhile the young pricet is thinking of the sad condition of those poor people who are living without the knowledge of God, he compassionates them decides to consecrate his life to them. Heroic decision ! You all what excrifice a Catholic missionary's life in China exacts, generally he has to share the miseries of the poor, exposed to the anti-foreign feeling of the people, and even in danger of life, but no matter, it is God who calls him and he will give the necessary help. The necessary preparations having been made, the young priest was sent to Hongkong, where at that time the mission was at its beginning; all was to be done, it was for all a difficult task. but it was all the more difficult for the young missionary, as he was confided with a large territory. Full of ardour he begins synonymous of martial law, has been at once to study the Chinese language, which he masters in a comparatively short time, at the same time he begins his apostolic career, which shall be a very energetic and perilous one; but at the same time full of fruits, which the intrepid missionary shall harvest according to the saying of the Psalmist 'Who shall sow in toars shall reap in joy'. Truly the beginning of his career at once showed the strong character of the valiant missionary who left his country, parents, friends, good position, only for the cause of God and for the salvation of souls. His life was at that times wandering one, having no fixed place of abode or established. Christianity. Father Louiz, as he was generally called count his life was one of great sacrifice and abnegation. Living simply as the poorest of the Chinese, the good missionary does not spare himself but multiplies himself for the welfare of all, he instructs the people. gives them council, helps them, and hundreds of times he settles disputes to the general satisfaction and thus prevents serious clan fights. Many inhabitants of a viilage baving communication with the father and being pleased with the religion he taught, apontaneously recolved to embrace of the Black Sea fleet has occured; the the faith, but their resolution was not pleasing to their neighbours who interfered and put every obstacle in the way, even threatening them with death, but God who wanted these chosen souls gave them such strength that notwithstanding these threats. though they were entirely free, they wished to be baptised. Being sufficiently instructed and after many proofs of constancy and good will Fr. Louiz decided to baptise them and did so. After baptism the new converts were very pleased and satisfied and thought they would have no more trouble from their neighbours. But they were deceived, secretly their neighbours were proparing terrible vengeance to satisfy, their hatred, deciding to kill the father and Christians alike, - Fr. Louiz, baying knowledge that the converts were in danger of their lives, as a good shepherd went at once to help them, ready to give his own life to save that of his sheep. Having no residence, he took lodging in a small but where a Chinese family was living. There he learned the intentions of the pagans, and discovered that they were blinded with hatred against the poor converts. He made efforts to appeare the people but in vain, the pagans were decided at any cost to destroy the christians, he then went to his lodging recommending the converts to abstain from violence and to be prepared to give their lives for the most noble cause, viz., as martyrs of God. At his lodging he heard that he himself was an educational test, with a view to the also to be executed. In the meantime night came; every measure was taken not to allow the victims to escape. With s dinner they prepared themselves to execute these poor people who were guilty of no other crime than that of being Christians. The dinner being over, the terrible sounds of the tom-tom or gong were heard with cries of death and imprecations against the poor victims. Terror invaded the whole village without a voice of mercy or pity for the poor innocents who had barricaded themselves in their houses. The pagan gang, armed with rifles and other weapons and also previded with crow bars to break in the doors, entered the village and breaking into the houses, hacked and wounded all that came in their way. They then took with them as prisoners five men. who were fathers of families. women and children then succeeded in escaping in the darkness, leaving all couple of years been labouring. To give they possessed in the bands of their persecutors. With the light of torches and the sound of the 'tom-tom,' the five men were tied to a tree, beaten and maltreated in every way. The cries of the poor victims failed to excite compassion in the hearts of these tigers in human form silver set for the dinner table, consisting and the poor creatures were cut to pieces. Imagine the pain and distress felt by good Father Louisz when he heard their cries and witnessed the cruel treatment to which they were subjected without being able to give them any assistance ! Next day his own terrible hour arrived, he was still hiding in the same but, the cries of his handsome one and being characteristic of persecutors threatening him with death the country will serve long to remind the ringing in his ears, he prepared to die, glad of having the occasion of giving his recipients of the great esteem in which blood for the faith for which so many they were held. Mr and Mrs Bridie's two disciples of the cross have given their own in former times, and as a mild lamb he presented bimself to his persecutors at the ty gold brooch. The gathering was a most distance of a few paces. At once a murdelous hand presented a rife at him and pulled the trigger, but fortunately the rifle missed fire; he tried a second and a third time but with the same result. At this moment and old man who was standing by, lowered the wife, suggesting that the ownertion of the father be deferred to the night. as it would be then easier to conceal the affair in case the foreigners came to inquire about it. As they passed the poor father was counting with anxiety the hours, waiting for his end.
